Two-Faced Kamela Harris

by

> A two-faced person is someone who lacks a clear self-identity, self-esteem, and courage. They are often referred to as brown nosers, as they try to please everyone they meet in an attempt to be popular and liked.

Other definitions are similar but one that sticks out, and seems to summarize the term, defines it as, "a person who lacks honesty or sincerity and will lie, cheat, or steal for their own gain."

Since Kamela Harris became Vice President, and especially since her declaration to run for the Office of President of the United States of America, we have consistently seen how unqualified she is to become our President and Commander in Chief.

Many studies have identified 15+ signs used to identify a person who has a two-face personality. It is important to recognize a two-faced person before they can do irreparable damage to you, those you love, and the nation, and to prevent them from controlling your life and those of others.

While many of these signs can be interpreted and applied to Harris and Trump, there are some significant differences between Harris and Trump. Here some of their differences.

Trump	Harris
Expressed faith in God	No expressed faith in any god or religion
Has run many businesses	No business experience
Understands finances and economics	No understanding of finance or economics
Supports peace through strength	Believes peace is achieved through diplomatic discussions
Supports Israel	Flips on support of Israel
Visits disasters and the border	Avoids visiting disasters and border

Visits with families of deceased veterans, law enforcement, and firefighters	Does not visit or even phone families of killed military or first responders
Takes foreign policy seriously	Treats foreign policy as a child's game
Does not support far-left/green agendas	Supports far-left/green agenda
Supports democratic government	Supports socialist government
Wants to reduce taxes and US debt	Wants to increase taxes and US debt
Supports Americans before illegal immigrants	Supports illegal immigrants over Americans
Wants controlled borders with vetting	Wants open borders & not vet immigrants
Wants to control illegal drugs and cartels	Shows no interest in controlling illegal drugs
Supports pro-life	Supports abortion
Supports free market and capitalism	Supports controlled markets and social economics
Supports earn and keep your income with minimum taxation	Supports taxing income and earnings in all economic and social sectors

While we have seen some differences between the two presidential candidates, let's discuss some of the two-face signs that Harris consistently shows in her public appearances and interviews. We should mention at this point that when interviewed, she is not asked any in-depth questions or questions requiring substantive answers.

The first thing that most of us noticed about Harris was her laughing and smiling. She constantly laughs and smiles to avoid answering a question. Although humor, smiling, and laughing have a place in politics, Harris does it at inappropriate times. She has never given a precise or thoughtful answer as VP or candidate.

There are other aspects of body language that Harris displays. Her smile is not present while physically hugging another person. However before hugging and afterward, she is smiling.

In a recent interview, when Harris was asked why she has not visited the border, her flippant reply was that she hasn't been to Europe either. Never answering the question and being flippant she was displaying passive-aggressive behavior, and was showing disdain for the question and the interviewer.

Two-faced people do not take responsibility for their actions. Instead the lack of accountability for their actions is demonstrated by making excuses for their behavior and blaming others for the reason(s) why things are the way they are. For example Harris blames Trump for the rising debt ceiling, the open borders, inflation, the high number of illegals entering the US, high gas, grocery and housing prices. In other words, she takes no responsibility for what Biden and her administration has done to our nation.

Backstabbing is a key characteristic of Harris. The relationship between people should one of trust and respect. This is especially true of employer – employee relationships where mutual support, trust, and respect should prevail. The high turnover of Harris' staff is not only indicative of her lack of leadership, but also the denigration of staff members. She may act supportive and kind in social situations but is quick to criticize her staff in other settings. Her backstabbing actions have caused severe turmoil, emotional distress, and a hostile work environment (something Democrats claim to be against, but often engage in).

In an extreme act of backstabbing, Harris shamelessly knifed her own boss – Biden in the back to steal a nomination she couldn't otherwise earn honestly.

Deception, lying and inconsistent story-telling are all hallmarks of the two-person mental illness. The intent of these behaviors is to manipulate the behavior and thought of others. Deception is an umbrella for lying and telling stories that are inconsistent with facts and/or with previous stories that have been told.

Harris exhibits some form of deception almost every time she speaks. In fact-checking Harris's statements made during the Trump–Harris debate, most of the so-called "facts" were discredited by many of the conservative and liberal media.

When the same lie is repeatedly made, people come to believe it is true. Harris is well skilled at making her lies believable. All one has to do is to look at her responses when asked about the:

- Border crisis,
- Wellness of our economy,
- Inflation, and
- Relationships with Israel, Hamas, Iran

Inconsistent stories are another form of deception and lying that Harris uses.   Her different stories of the same situation are often used to manipulate situations.   For example, Harris claims to have been raised in a middle-class family in a middle-class neighborhood. That story is full of deceit and lies.

Deception, lying and changing narratives are some of the "tools" used by two-faced people. While Harris is well versed in using these tools, she also uses hypocrisy (when someone pretends to have beliefs or feelings they don't hold) to manipulate voters.

As we have seen, Harris is NOT reliable. Not visiting the border is the most her most unreliable action. She was appointed "Border Czar," to oversee border security, and yet she has done nothing significant to stem the flow of illegal immigrants, drugs, and human trafficking into our country.

She is also unreliable when it comes to reducing everyday costs for low to middle income families. Another area of unreliability is when Harris spouts economic figures and when making false allegations against her presidential opponent.

Kamela Harris, the Democrats, and far-left instigators would love to see Donald Trump lose the presidency. They tried before he was elected to his first term of presidency, twice during his presidency, multiple times since he left office, and for the past year as he goes for a 2nd term as president. Her pathological hatred of Trump has resulted in a psychosis of not being able to tell the difference between what's real and what's not.

Kamala Harris consistently dodges questions that require a definitive answer. If she answers, her answers are vague, references some other topic, or she just laughs off the question. She DOES NOT have leadership qualities.

Just as a tiger cannot change its stripes, Kamela Harris cannot change her stripes as a dedicated Marxist and socialist. Is this who you want as our president?
